

6045 Ellison Avenue Peachland British Columbia

$989,000

This no-step rancher style home was designed by a retired architect from Germany built to incorporate desired architectural features such as high vaulted ceilings, beams, archways and stained glass. The owner was also a stained glass artist, and many of his works are incorporated into the windows for colourful accents. His favourite room was 'The Caboose'" which is hidden off of the furnace room/workshop. The home is well cared for with updates many over the years, and the property is extensively landscaped and terraced to provide places to gather or relax in privacy and tranquility. The large addition currently used as an exercise room has often been used as a third bedroom for guests - great flex room. Loft storage is built into the roof above primary bedroom & dining room.
