In the heart of Strathcona, this extraordinary architectural residence situated on a double lot offers a rare interplay of architecture, landscape, and light. Designed and built as the personal residence of renowned Edmonton architect Donna Clare, the home is a deeply considered expression of her exceptional eye for proportion, material, and detail. There is an almost gallery-like quality throughout, where carefully curated finishes, expansive windows, and striking architectural elements are beautifully composed with the landscape beyond. At the heart of the home is a spectacular landscaped courtyard, creating an effortless continuity between the interior and exterior and allowing nature to become part of the architecture itself. A warm industrial aesthetic is complemented by exceptional materials, designer lighting by LightForm, in-floor heating, and an extraordinary level of craftsmanship. Surrounded by ravines, cafes, and an incredible network of trails; this work of art designed to be enjoyed. (id:6769)
